

When I Think About Angels

Jamie O'Neal

Why does the color of my coffee match your eyes?
Why do I see you when a stranger passes by?
I swear, I hear you in the whisper of the wind
I feel you when the sun is dancin' on my skin
And when it's rainin'
You won't find me complainin' 'cause
When I think about rain
I think about singin'
When I think about singin'
It's a heavenly tune
When I think about Heaven then
I think about agels
When I think about angels
I think about you
The taste of sugar sure reminds me of your kiss
I like the way that they both linger on my lips
Kisses remind me of a field of butterflies
Must be the way the heart is fluttering inside
Beautiful distraction
You make every thought a chain reaction
When I think about rain
I think about singin'
When I think about singin'
It's a heavenly tune
When I think about Heaven then
I think about angels
When I think about angels
I think about you
Anywhere I go
Anything I do
Everything around me, baby
Makes me think of you
When I think about rain
I think about singin'
When I think about singin'
It's a heavenly tune
When I think about Heaven then
I think about angels
When I think about agels
I think about you
When I think about rain
I think about singin'
When I think about singin'
It's a heavenly tune
When I think about Heaven then
I think about angels
When I think about angels
I think about you
When I think about rain

I think about singin'
When I think about singin'
It's a heavenly tune
When I think about Heaven then
I think about angels
When I think about angels
I think about you
