Ultraviolet Light

Ryan Adams & The Cardinals

This is the silence so nobody understands Ice ocean leaves the ships just sliding and Clouds forming, lighting shooting from its hands Skies on fire, make a wish and use it quick, my friendCome on, come on, come on, let's go, it's getting darker Come on, come on, come on, let's go Come on, come on, before my wish expires Something bad is on the horizon shining ulta-violet lightI see you hover and oblivious to it The laws of nature don't apply, don't apply to her No wonder that the world came to an end There was another on the other side, inside her head so Come on, come on, let's go, it's getting darker Come on, come on, come on, let's go Come on, come on, before my wish expires Something bad is on the horizon shining ulta-violet lightSlow violence only radiates the sand Delete your messages and come on, come on, come on Ultra-violet light's the best way in Don't wake up the monsters on my head, tip-toe, they're sleepin' inCome on, come on, come on, let's go, it's getting darker Come on, come on, come on, let's go Come on, come on, before my wish expires Something bad is on the horizon This was the wish, this was the wish I made This was the wish, this was the wish I made This was the wish, this was the wish I made This was the wishNow here comes the light Now here comes the light Here comes the light
