

Before the Lobotomy

Green Day

Dreaming, I was only dreaming
Of another place and time
Where my family's from Singing, I can hear them singing
When the rain had washed away
All these scattered dreams Dying, everyone's reminded
Hearts are washed in misery
Drenched in gasoline Laughter, there is no more laughter
Songs of yesterday now live
In the underground Life before the lobotomy
Christian sang the eulogy
Sign my love, a lost memory
From the end of the century
Well, it's enough to make you sick
To cast a stone and throw a brick
But when the sky is falling down
You burned your dreams into the ground Christian's lesson is what he's been sold
We are normal and self-controlled
Remember to learn to forget
Whiskey shots and cheap cigarettes Well, I'm not stoned, I'm just fucked up
I got so high I can't stand up
But I'm not cursed, 'cause I've been blessed
I'm not in love, 'cause I'm a mess Like refugees
We're lost like refugees
Like refugees
We're lost like refugees
The brutality of reality
Is the freedom that keeps me from Dreaming, I was only dreaming
Of another place and time
Where my family's from Singing, I can hear them singing
When the rain had washed away
All these scattered dreams Dying, everyone's reminded
Hearts are washed in misery
Drenched in gasoline Laughter, there is no more laughter
Songs of yesterday now live
In the underground

Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by <http://www.1songlyrics.com/>