Grieves

I can feel it in my chest, feel everybody's watching
I don't think I can stop it
They put me on the pills. they just make me feel lethargic
I don't take them anymore, I'm medicated with the vodka
Put it in my cup, sedated, dedicate it to the ghost
Blurred vision, I'm surrounded by the smoke
I ain't breathing right I feel like I could choke
And it's hard to climb around it when you're running out of rope
And it feels like I'm standing in a puddle of gasoline with a match and a polaroid of the city lights
Trying to get ahold of myself with a bit of help from the bottle has been a tricky flight
Feeling like the key to it all is out in a thunderstorm dangling from a little kite
Every drop of blood in my body is turning into a tidal wave of the killing kind
Don't forget to breathe out though (x4)
[Hook] (x2)
You keep pulling me down, pulling me down
Pulling me under the water
You keep calling my name, calling my name
Calling me back to you I ain't got the answers
I'm a man that's trying to make it on his own without a hiccup
And they don't understand it
They just looking at me probably thinking I'm a fucking slip up
An everyone around me actin'
Like they got a better way to settle when it kicks up
The venom only going to take a minute till it sink into your system
And it feels like All the little the tremors are starting to shake a part of me loose that I need to make it out
Something is calling me to the depths and I'm pretty sure that I let it keep taking me down
Nothing is ever on solid ground anymore and I feel it rumbling fading me out
Every drop of blood in my body was turning into an avalanche when it came around
Don't forget to breathe out though (x4)
[Hook] (x4)
You keep pulling me down, pulling me down
Pulling me under the water
You keep calling my name, calling my name
Calling me back to you
