

The Mess I Made

Parachute

Should've kissed you there
I should've held your face
I should've watched those eyes
Instead of runnin' place
I should've called you out
I should've said your name
I should've turned around
I should've looked againBut oh...
I'm staring at the mess I made
As you turn, you take your heart & walk away
Should've held my ground
I could've been redeemed
For every second chance
That changed its mind on me
I should've spoken up
I should've proudly claimed
That oh my head's to blame
For all my heart's mistakesBut oh...
I'm staring at the mess I made
As you turn, you take your heart & walk awayAnd it's you...And it's falling down, as you walk away
And it's on me now, as you goBut oh...
I'm staring at the mess I made
As you turn, you take your heart & walk away
And it's falling down, as you walk away
And it's on me now, as you goBut oh...
I'm staring at the mess I made
As you turn, you take your heart & walk away

Lyrics provided by <http://www.1songlyrics.com/>