

HEART ATTACK (feat. lau.ra)

BRONSON

I've been patient
But I won't follow
'Cause I don't wanna be your friend Why does it matter in the end?
I want a little bit of lightening
No, I don't wanna be your friend
'Cause these feelings are a violence This love's a heart attack This love's a heart attack This love's a heart attack See, I've been patient
But I won't follow
'Cause I don't wanna be your friend
Why does it matter if it ends?
I want a little bit of lightning
No, I don't wanna be your friend
I want a little bit of lightening
No, I don't wanna be your friend I want a little bit of lightening
Why does it matter if it ends?
But I don't wanna live in silence
Why does it matter in the end? I want a little bit of lightening
No, I don't wanna be your friend
Because these feelings are a violence
Why does it matter in the end? This love's a heart attack
This love's a heart attack
This love's a heart attack
This love's a heart attack This love's a heart attack No, I won't go back
This love's a heart attack
This love's a heart attack Why does it matter anyway?
Why does it matter in the end?
Why does it matter anyway?
Why does it matter in the end?

Lyrics provided by <http://www.1songlyrics.com/>