That Girl Has Love

Rooney

I don't know a lot about her But she, she knew a lot about me Her family seemed to love her If what they say is true Her friends all shared the good times Man, that girl has love That girl has...I, I didn't have a clue then That a kiss Would change my whole life again She walked into my room When I was all alone She told me I would date her from September till December She doesn't know Things will never be the same again She'll always be 17 That girl has loveShe kept all the pain inside Now she has got nothing to hide At such a young age She took her own life Now she's seeing things that come in Our dreams at night She's a dreamerShe doesn't know Things will never be the same again She'll always be 17 That girl has love (love)That was too real to ever be fake That was too strong to be ever be forgotten That girl has love Love, love, love, love, love...She doesn't know Things will never be the same again
