

On My Way Here

Clay Aiken

I took my first step
On the black and white kitchen floor
I sometimes wonder if that house
Is even there, anymore I had my first glimpse of love
When I was five
I watched two people split apart
But still the three of us survived I've seen the best, I've seen the worst
I wouldn't change what I've been through
I've touched the sky, I've hit the wall
But I did what I had to, ohh On my way here
Where I am now
I've learned to fly
I have to want to leave the ground
I've fallen hard
But I've been loved
And in the end it all works out
Faith has conquered fear
On my way here My address has changed
Almost every year
I've found that standing still
Can quickly make a lifetime disappear I'd rather try and fail
A thousand times denied
At least, whenever you feel pain
It lets you know that you're alive I've been a fool, I've been afraid
I've been loved, I've been lied to
I've been wrong, I've been right
I stood up when I had to, ohh
On my way here
Where I am now
I've learned to fly
I have to want to leave the ground I've fallen hard
But I've been loved
And in the end it all works out
Faith has conquered fear
On my way here No guarantees
I believed that I would find
An open door or a light
To lead me to the other side
I guess that is why On my way here
Where I am now
I've learned to fly
I have to want to leave the ground

I've fallen hard
But I've been loved
And in the end it all works out
Where I am now
I've learned to fly
I have to want to leave the ground
I've fallen hard
But I've been loved
And in the end it all works out
Faith has conquered fear
On my way here
